Extra Election Special

BISON BANNER

Dallas Edition

Dallas—Election year promises full range of programs for local agency of Associated Women for Harding. Despite upward pressure on interest rates, Dallas chapter president Ms. Carrie Lou Davis promises no increase in annual initiation contribution.

"This administration is committed to vitalization without a rate increase," sighted Davis in preserving the seven year old tax deductible subscription.

"Remarkable, especially considering the wide moves in such basic economic indicators as the prime rate, M-2, and the CPI during this period!" stated Sec. of Treasury Ms. Kay Redding.

Davis further explained the platform emphasizing expansion through increased productivity. A full range of programs include a September French Picnic, a Holiday Tour of exquisite Dallas homes, and a spring gourmet cooking school. These planks provide excitement for the entire Dallas delegation.

Last year's registration topped 100. Activities included a Western Ho-Down featuring the Silver River Band, Christmas at Reunion with Belles and Beaus and a High Fashion Walk at Bent Tree Country Club.

Funding programs kept pace with the nation's economic recovery. A total of $5000.00 was presented to Dr. Clifton Ganus at the National AWH Day on campus last April.

"Considering the worthwhile purpose and the exciting entertainment, AWH for $12.00 is America's best bargain," Sec. of Dept. of Programs Ms. Jan Burt told this reporter.

Sound fiscal policy—long a Harding hallmark—dictate prompt funding to prevent run-away deficits and rekindling of an inflationary spiral. All delegates are urged to immediately vote AWH '84 by sending membership contribution to:

BISON BANNER

Dallas Edition

Dallas—Associated Women for Harding's campaign soars. Widely read polls predict 1984-85 term will bring record turnout for all activities. The campaign season is well underway, with over eighty eager supporters attending the Keynote event September 21. Voter registration is ahead in all precincts and unregistered party members are encouraged to sign up immediately.

President Carrie Lou Davis announced today that she is taking the campaign to the grass roots. Appealing to the rank and file will be a down home garage sale Fri. and Sat., Oct. 19-20. Volunteers are encouraged to bring merchandise to the Burt's house, 5809 Club Oaks, Dallas, and to report for sales duty on Oct. 19.

Upcoming events promise great excitement. Christmas Tour of Homes director, Jann Scarlett, is quoted as saying, "The holidays will be spectacular!" Following the fine country dinner, served French style on the quilt laced lawn, anticipations of the fall and winter social extravaganzas are high. November's Art Museum Tour and Luncheon sounds enlightening. December is time for Holiday homes. January is jazzercise season and February brings a sweetheart supper.

Such fine programs and planning clearly show a Banner Year for the Bisons. AWH—the party for all Dallas Harding helpers delights in urging your prompt enrollment and enjoyment of all activities. Please send registration fee of $12.00 to:
